"I want to make a report."

You have options if you choose to report:

1. File a complaint with the Title IX Office
2. File a report with the police.

You can choose either or both of these options and even meet with both departments at the same time to avoid unnecessarily repeating yourself. Share as little or as much as you are comfortable with.

Title IX Office
 336-256-0362
 titleix.uncg.edu

If you choose to file a complaint with the Title IX Office, an office member will reach out to meet with you and any support people you would like. During the meeting, the Title IX Office will discuss support resources, the investigation process, and options for resolution.

UNCG PD
 police.uncg.edu
 Non Emergency 336-334-5963
 Emergency 336-334-4444

If you choose to file a report with the police, you will meet with an officer who will discuss the criminal investigation process with you, options for protective orders (if appropriate) and options for resolution.

"I don't know where to start."

We understand that all of these options may be overwhelming. The following campus offices can provide additional information, answer questions, and guide you based on your needs.

Campus Violence Response Center
 336-334-9839
 cvrc.uncg.edu

Confidential, single point of access for support, crisis response, advocacy, counseling, support groups, court and medical accompaniment, and coordination with on and off-campus services.

Title IX Office
 336-256-0362
 titleix.uncg.edu

Semi-confidential office that can arrange supportive measures, accommodations, interim measures, formal complaints, adaptive resolution process, and University No Contact Orders.

Provost or Human Resources Offices

Semi-confidential support that can provide connection to any resource on or off-campus, including Title IX, UNCG PD, CVRC, Counseling Center and many others that may fit your needs.
